MOTHERS, WE NOTICE!

We honor mothers on a single day, the second Sunday in May.

Yet, the rest of the year, we seldom think about mothers. That sense drove Nicole Johnson to write an article called I Am Invisible.

In it, she laments:

Some days I am only a pair of hands, nothing more. 'Can you fix this? Can you tie this? Can you open this?' Some days I am not a pair of hands; I am not even a human being; I am a clock to ask, 'What time is it?' I am a satellite guide to answer, 'What number is the Disney Channel?' I am a car-to-order—'right around 5:30 please.' I was certain that these were the hands that once held books and the eyes that studied history and the mind that graduated. But now they had all disappeared into the peanut butter never to be seen again. She's going, she's going, she's gone.

No one dare ever dispute the weary days of motherhood. Daily life contains runny noses, endless cleanups, and bone-jarring fatigue.

God created mothers as the shaper of people. A child screams into the world as a lovable bundle of demands and emotions. Mothers take that clay, and sculpt their children into mannered, civilized, and productive adults. It's no easy task.

Today, we take the time to say what we ignore doing more often, "Thanks, Mom. We could not do it without you."

And we mean every word.

TODAY The Preaching

Jason Moon is away on vacation today. This morning Robert Taylor will be speaking and Greg Parks will present tonight's lesson.

NEXT WEEK Senior Service

Each year, a fresh group of graduates go out to find their unique place in the world. This year, that group includes five graduates from Waterview.

Next Sunday night is our annual senior service. In it you will hear some of their stories and the elders will present a charge for them on this eventful time in their lives.

Following the service, a reception with refreshments will be held in the foyer so you can visit with the graduates and their families.

UPCOMING LESSONS from Jason

This year during the four weeks between Mother's Day and Father's day, our Sunday morning sermons will focus on "Great Marriages of the Bible." Next week we'll begin with a lesson focused on Adam and Eve. Plan to be present each week as we learn from some great love stories.

JUNE Summer Series Begins

Each summer, we take a break from regular Wednesday night classes to enjoy presentations by various preachers from around our brotherhood.

This year's theme is In Sync With God: The 10 Commandments in a Modern Age.

You can pick up a flyer with complete details in the foyer or visit waterview.org.
